I. BIO 102 Introduction to Biology II—4 Semester Hours

II. Course Description

This is an introductory course designed for non-science majors. It includes evolutionary principles and relationships, environmental and ecological topics, phylogenetics and classification, and a survey of biodiversity. A 120-minute laboratory is required.

III. Prerequisite

BIO 101

IV. Textbook

Due to the varied selection of quality college-level textbooks, each college will select the textbook needed to meet the requirements of this course.

V. Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course, students will be able to:
1. Describe the major concepts of the theory of evolution and its relationship to today’s diverse life forms.
2. Describe how organisms are scientifically classified.
3. Identify and give examples of the major clades and their ecological roles.
4. Compare the morphology and physiology of major clades.
5. Describe the interconnectedness of life as demonstrated through ecological interactions.
6. Identify and describe the principles of population dynamics.

VIII. Attendance

Students are expected to attend all classes for which they are registered. Students who are unable to attend class regularly, regardless of the reason or circumstance, should withdraw from that class before poor attendance interferes with the student’s ability to achieve the objectives required in the course. Withdrawal from class can affect eligibility for federal financial aid.
